

PROCESSING PHASE CHANGE MATERIAL
TO IMPROVE PROGRAMMING SPEED

Abstract of the Disclosure

A phase change material may be processed to reduce its microcrystalline grain size and may also be processed to increase the crystallization or set programming speed of 5 the material. For example, material doped with nitrogen to reduce grain size may be doped with titanium to reduce crystallization time.